

force under Gen. Pershing was made on May 18. The press gave the news to the country and there were daily stories. There came a day when Gen. Pershing was no longer in the department. Officers of the general staff and men were missing from their desks. No word of this was reported. Then came word from England that Pershing and his officers were there. All was carried through without publicity. Other matters relating to the expedition were carried out without a word of publicity. The regiments that were to go with Gen. Pershing were all selected before he left and moving toward the seacoast from the border. Other regiments also were moving north, east, and west to the points where they were to be expanded, and the movements of the troops who were to be first in France were obscured in all this hurrying of troop trains over the land. Great shipments of war supplies began to assemble at the embarkation ports. Liners suddenly were taken off their regular runs with no announcement. A great armada was made ready, supplied, equipped, as transports, loaded with men and guns, and sent to sea, and all with virtually no mention from the press.

Navy Does Good Work.
The navy bears its full share in the achievement. From the time the troop ships left their docks and headed toward sea responsibility for the lives of thousands of men rested upon the officers and crews of the fighting ships that moved beside them or swept free the sea lanes before them. As they pushed on through the days and nights toward the zone where German submarines lay in wait, every precaution that trained minds of the navy could devise was taken. And the news from France today shows that the plans were well laid.

While his troops were embarking or steaming toward their destination Gen. Pershing and his staff, supplemented by a special corps of general staff officers, have been busy in France preparing the way for the new army that is to find itself soon against the German lines. The war department has no announcement to make as to Gen. Pershing's disposition of his forces. Presumably that has been left to him to decide in conference with the French general staff and with officials of the British army. The American troops will be an independent force, cooperating with the allies.

Ready to Carry Mail.
Elaborate preparations have been made by the government for handling of the great volume of mail that will pass between the troops of America's expeditionary forces and home. Postmaster General Burleson announced tonight the appointment of Marcus H. Bunn of the department force here as United States army postal agent in Europe.

Rates on army mail to and from France have been reduced by the department so that the cost is the same as for mail between points in this country. Branch and mobile postoffices will be established in the field for the delivery and receipt of mail, the sale of stamps, and the issuance of money orders.

United States postage stamps will be valid for the prepayment of postage on mail for the troops. All letters should be addressed to the division, regiment, company, and organization to which the addressee belongs, but designation of the location of the unit will not be permitted.

CHEERS FROM FRENCH.
A FRENCH SEAPORT, June 27.—The second contingent of American troops arrived and disembarked this morning. The troops landed amid the frantic cheers of the people, who gathered for hours before in anticipation of duplicating yesterday's surprise.

Enthusiasm rose to fever pitch when it was learned that the transports and convoys had passed unscathed through the port. The port was speedily bedecked in honor of the occasion.

All the troops now here were transferred today to a camp not distant from this point, where Maj. Gen. William L. Sibert is installed. Thence they probably will go soon to a point near the front. All the troops are in excellent shape, enthusiastic over the successful trip and their reception and eager for action.

Maj. Gen. Pershing, the American commander in chief, is expected tomorrow.

PREPARE PLANS TO INSURE MEN SENT TO FRONT

Washington, D. C., June 27.—[Special.]—A meeting will be held here on July 2 at which Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and life insurance experts will work out details of a plan to insure the lives of the officers and men who are destined for service in France.

The secretary signed a call today on all the leading life insurance companies to send representatives to this meeting. The action is taken to overcome a condition about which there has been much complaint.

It has been found practically impossible for men who expect to go to the firing line to get insurance. The matter has had its effect on enlistments, it is claimed, and is a continual obstacle to the prosecution of the war.

In addition to the opportunity to take out life insurance for the benefit of families of army and navy men there has been for the last ten years the further advantage of the benefit insurance maintained by the government, whereby officers and men are entitled in case of death in the line of duty to a payment to their designated beneficiaries of an amount equal to one-half their pay at the time of death.

HOW THEY WENT; TROOPS CHEER BEFORE LEAVING

Ships and All Supplies Made Ready Quietly in Advance.

Now that the first contingent of American troops has reached France it is possible to tell the story of departure from the United States. The following story has been withheld under voluntary censorship until it was released by the war department in Washington:

AN ATLANTIC PORT, June 27.—[Special.]—The troops selected for the first American army ever to be sent to Europe were happy during the days they remained in the port from which their transports ultimately sailed. Troopship after troopship was loaded and towed to an anchorage. River craft and ferries, loaded with civilians, almost got upon speaking terms with some of the khaki-clad soldiers.

To the tens of thousands of people who had the privilege of seeing the soldiers on the last two or three days prior to their sailing, there was keen disappointment one morning when they awoke and saw that the fleet had quietly departed.

To residents of the cities to which the trains carried the troops, it was readily apparent they were seasoned troops. Many of them had been on the border for years.

Ships Are Made Ready.
The preparation of the ships to carry the men was a tip to what was coming. Each one was fitted out for troopship after many days of labor. Most of this work was done in the public shipyards, from which the public was barred. But the subsequent shifting of coastwise liners about the harbor, their appearance in war paint, and their fillings of lifeboats and rafts for a long ocean voyage were unmistakable evidences of what was going on.

One of the most striking things in this connection and one which caused the most comment was the sudden appearance of so many large vessels flying the American flag, in refutation of the oft expressed opinion that this country did not have enough vessels under the Stars and Stripes to carry an army.

The requisitioning by the government of its first transport fleet did not in any way deplete the American merchant marine. Not a steamship line was put out of business by the taking of its ships. Not a liner under the American flag carrying passengers to Europe was taken, yet the first step was taken to requisition enough liners, all over 5,000 tons and most of them much larger than that.

Freighters Go with Them.
When they were taken several large freighters to carry the equipment and supplies needed for the troops. No one steamship company had all its vessels taken. Only one line had to give over as many as three ships. In most cases the vessels were selected one here and one there.

Despite the hurried fitting out of the ships the work was most carefully and minutely carried out. Instead of hammocks wooden berths were installed for each man. On some of the larger vessels three decks were fitted out with berths. Refrigerating plants on all the vessels were packed with beef and other meat, eggs, milk, and fresh vegetables. Enough extra supplies were carried to last the crews on the return trip. Coal also was taken for the round trip, so that there would be no drain on the supply in either England or France.

The plans of every ship available had been obtained by the government and engineers some time ago and their specifications in the case of each vessel were carefully worked out without a hitch. Many of the largest liners were completely fitted out for the transport service, coal, and provisioned in two weeks.

Cheerful Grief by Men.
While the troops were waiting to be assembled on the piers they exchanged all sorts of repartees with onlookers. One thing that was unmistakable was a solid confidence among the men over the undertaking. They expressed anxiety to get to France and into the trenches.

Time and again the hardened troops called out: "On to France," or "We took Vera Cruz, now for Berlin," or again, "Lead us to the Germans."

Each time such a shout was heard there were cheers that followed which were given not only by the soldiers but by those who gathered about the ships.

Some Delays Are Met.
The regiments arrived at the port after several days on trains, for the majority of the troops had come from Texas. Conditions under which the troops traveled were not as good perhaps as will be the case with future contingents, for there were long delays en route and the travel rations became tiresome. Arrangements had been made for the discharge of all soldiers from trains within twelve hours after they arrived at the seacoast. The inevitable hap-

Hundreds of Women Pledge Renunciation of Food—All Classes Represented.

HOW MUCH DO YOU LOVE YOUR COUNTRY?
Food Will Win the War
WILL YOU SERVE BY SAVING?
If so, sign this definite, tangible pledge of patriotism and loyalty to our cause—YOUR country's cause. Help conserve food for Victory.

I hereby pledge myself to do without one of the following foods—the one I have checked—on one day of every week while the war lasts.

List of Foods to Be Saved: _____ Day of the Week: _____

Signature: _____ Address: _____

THERE are no unpatriotic women in Illinois, judging by the response that has come to the call for a definite sacrifice as expressed in THE TRIBUNE food conservation pledge. From the small towns in Illinois, from the suburbs, and from the city of Chicago itself, signed pledges have poured into THE TRIBUNE office.

All sorts of people are represented in the long and rapidly growing list of names, and many letters have been received along with the pledges expressing the faith of the people in the idea that "food will win the war."

Mrs. Hopewell Rogers, Mrs. John Borden, Mrs. Henry Harvey, and Mrs. John Winterbottom were discovered yesterday signing the pledge at a little tea party in the garden of Mrs. Winterbottom's house at 674 Lincoln parkway.

Mrs. Winterbottom has been a staunch adherent of "Old Glory" bread, which is composed partly of wheat substitutes, but she signed up yesterday to give up on every Wednesday even the little wheat contained in "Old Glory" and have an absolutely wheatless day. Mrs. Rogers pledges herself to do without fats on "Tuesday," and Mrs. Borden will eat no meat on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and Mrs. Harvey has "sworn off" on wheat for Fridays as long as the war shall last.

Hundreds of others have signed the food conservation pledge. Why not YOU?

FAIRNESS AIM OF VIENNA CABINET

AMSTERDAM, June 27.—A Vienna dispatch says that in introducing the new Austrian cabinet to the lower house the premier, Dr. von Seydler, said the government would manage administrative affairs in a spirit of strictest impartiality. The cabinet, which is only provisional, would have as its aim the creation of a scope of greater activity on the part of the people's representatives and would then give way to a definite government.

A bill imposing a war profits tax was submitted by the finance minister and the debate on the second reading of the provisional budget was opened.

The house adopted the budget on second reading by 292 to 150.

opened in many instances, however, and the troop trains and transports failed to connect.

The soldiers did not seem to fear submarines. All they talked of was the prospect of getting into the trenches and the regiments were filled to war strength.

No "Stumery" or "Dubs."

"Those Germans won't call us stumers or 'dubs' when we get afloat of them," said an infantry sergeant just before he sailed. "What's a stumer or 'dub'?" he was asked.

"Well, it's like this," he replied. "A stumer or a dub is a bad shell that does no damage, or, rather, that does not even explode. If you bet on a horse and he doesn't finish in the money—well, he is a stumer! You can put your coin on us boys and place it only one way—to win."

GOVERNMENT AID ON FIXING PRICE ON COAL OUTPUT

Operators Agree Upon a Plan to Get Advice of Trade Board.

Washington, D. C., June 27.—[Special.]—Impressed with the necessity for co-operation with the government coal operators of the country, in session here today, began creating the machinery for fixing a fair price for coal and to provide for its expeditious delivery.

The operators reconsidered a resolution adopted yesterday to create a price fixing committee at the urgent solicitation of J. Franklin Fort of the federal trade commission, who insisted the commission should be represented on the price fixing board. It is proposed that the price question shall be left to the committee on coal production of the council of national defense, Secretary of the Interior Lane, Mr. Fort, representing the federal trade commission, and a committee of bituminous and anthracite operators.

To carry out this plan a special committee on resolutions, headed by Francis S. Peabody of Chicago, chairman of the coal production committee, was named by the operators to report tomorrow.

Points to Grave Error.
Commissioner Fort did not hesitate to inform the operators that in failing to name a member of the commission on the price board it had made a grave mistake. As some of the operators put it, Fort practically demanded that the commission be represented. This left nothing for them to do but to reconsider their former action.

Commissioner Fort told the operators that the trade commission had conducted an exhaustive investigation into the coal situation and the subject of prices. He said that President Wilson had recently pressed the board to continue its work in connection with the coal industry and had provided it with funds for the purpose. In view of these circumstances he thought it necessary that the commission should be represented on the price fixing committee.

Question of Immunity.
Another development of the day was a misunderstanding over promised immunity for concerted price fixing action that might run counter to anti-trust laws. Yesterday the operators were assured that the government would not prosecute any one for price fixing, and Gov. Fort assured them that if any were prosecuted he would offer himself as a sacrifice and go to jail for them.

Chairman Peabody today received a letter from the attorney general asserting that certain assurances given the operators, if they went so far as to give blanket immunity, were unauthorized. Efforts to reach a fair price, however, in conjunction with a recognized government agency, such as the committee on coal production, would meet with no interference.

Operators Not to Blame.
W. S. Bogle of Chicago, a coal operator having interests in Indiana, today told the senate committee on interstate commerce, which is considering bills for governmental control of the prices of coal and railroad supplies, that the coal mine operators were not responsible for the recent big increases in the price of coal to the consumers, but that buyers of coal, the middlemen and dealers, were responsible.

The only way in which the operators could control the prices, he said, was to limit the production. He said that they had done this. In proof he told the committee that twenty-two coal mines had been opened up in Indiana in the last year.

Mr. Bogle said that he believed the government should regulate the price of coal if the coal dealers charge exorbitant prices for it.

PLANS COMPLETE TO PICK 625,000 MEN FOR ARMY
Wilson O. K.'s Draft Rules—4 Exemption Causes, Belief.

Washington, D. C., June 27.—[Special.]—All plans are set for drafting America's new national army to fight for liberty and democracy.

President Wilson today approved regulations which are to govern the selection of this army, the drafting for the first increment of 625,000 young men who registered for service three weeks ago.

Publication of the regulations is still withheld, however, but their release to the press is looked for within a few days, when the president will issue a proclamation naming the day for the draft.

It is expected that nearly two million of the nine and one-half million names registered will be drawn in the first draft which is to be conducted in Washington. From these two million will be selected the 625,000 best fitted and best able to fight in Europe.

Four Causes of Exemption?
Exemption causes are said to be divided in the regulations into four classes, as follows:

Men physically unfit for military duty. Men employed in various industries vital to conduct of the war. Persons of religious beliefs specifically exempted by the selective draft act. Men whose support is necessary to mothers, wives, children, or other dependents.

Rule on Double Registrations.
With respect to double registrations, Provost Marshal General Crowder today announced the following ruling:

"If a person is enlisted in two jurisdictions he may file with the local board to which he elects to present an application to cancel his registration, an affidavit signed by him stating that his domicile is in another jurisdiction, and apply for an order to be entered canceling his registration."

"If his application and affidavit are accompanied by the affidavit of the clerk of the other local board stating that his registration card is in the possession of the local board of which the applicant is a clerk, an order may be entered by the board to which such application is made canceling his registration in that jurisdiction."

The president today designated July 5 as the day for registration under the selective draft law in Porto Rico.

55,000 Men Needed to Fill Ranks of Regular Army

Washington, D. C., June 27.—Regular army recruiting continues to lag in spite of President Wilson's call for war volunteers, and with recruiting week more than half gone, about 55,000 men are needed. Only 1,400 additions were reported yesterday, the best showing being made by Illinois and Massachusetts, both of which have exceeded their quota.

Strong military precautions against possible disorders proved unnecessary. The new ministry is:

DICKSON TO ASK U. S. TO FIT OUT STATE SOLDIERS

On Way to Washington for Army Officers and Supplies for Men.

Springfield, Ill., June 27.—[Special.]—Adj. Gen. Frank S. Dickson has gone to Washington on a high grade foraging expedition.

He wants, among other items: One brigadier general of field artillery from the regular army; one colonel of field artillery for the new Third Illinois field artillery regiment now being organized, also from the regular army; one colonel of infantry from the regular army to command the Fourth Illinois infantry, now without a commanding officer; eighteen sergeants of field artillery from the regular army to be commissioned in as many batteries of field artillery in the three Illinois regiments.

In addition to these officers Illinois wants for immediate use equipment of all kinds for Col. Foreman's Second field artillery, late the First Illinois cavalry, and supplies of all varieties for the new Third field artillery.

Illinois is in the market for equipment of all descriptions for outfitting the new brigade of infantry that will be organized immediately first for state service recently authorized by the legislature and for which $750,000 was appropriated.

An important feature of Gen. Dickson's mission to the capital is to secure as much as is possible through government issues of rifles, ammunition, and tentage, the proposition being that the new brigade will be mobilized in a training camp in Springfield as rapidly as the commands can be recruited, mustered in and fitted out for active service.

Before departing Gen. Dickson said that he apprehended no difficulty in getting the permission of the department to the detail of such officers as are available for the commands mentioned.

Soldiers and sailors will not receive free transportation on the surface and elevated lines because, it was explained, the financial burden now borne by these companies make this impossible.

Artists' Ball Game Nets $2,200 for Red Cross

The recent baseball game between artists of THE TRIBUNE and Herald at Cubs park cleared $2,200. A check for this amount was turned over to the Red Cross yesterday. The money will be used to purchase two ambulances for service on the fighting front in France.

WETS AND DRIES LOAD WIRES TO WASHINGTON

Wets and dries of Chicago became active yesterday for and against the prohibition clause in the food bill now pending in the United States senate. Senators and congressmen from Illinois were deluged with telegrams.

Robert J. Halle, secretary of the National Liquor Dealers' association, sent telegrams to the president, vice president, and members of the senate, pointing out that the liquor interests had subscribed $500,000 to the Liberty loan fund and "vast sums" to the Red Cross.

"COME ON OVER," REGULARS' CRY; "JOIN UP" NOW!

Landing in France Due to Boost Recruiting.

THE REGULARS ARE IN FRANCE, JOIN THEM NOW!

No appeal made heretofore calling for volunteers for the army has been regarded with half the hope for results that attended the issuing of the above eight word poster yesterday afternoon by Capt. Franklin R. Kenney, in charge of army recruiting for the Chicago district.

It was just 1 o'clock yesterday when the news was flashed to Capt. Kenney from Washington that the regulars had arrived in France. In less than five minutes Capt. Kenney had written "copy" for the poster and a corporal was sprinting to a printing establishment with it. A little more than an hour later 200 of the posters arrived at his office and were distributed among the noncommissioned officers' staff for posting on billboards. By nightfall the message was fairly shouting its call to the colors from every available spot in the loop district.

Rush Is Expected. The slogan carried on the posters, is expected to be one of the biggest assets of the present "Recruiting Week" for the army, at the end of which it is hoped that 70,000 volunteers will have answered the president's call.

The cables that the regulars have arrived at the fighting front drives home the war to the United States as nothing else could, said Capt. Kenney. "I believe there will be no holding back from rallying to the colors from now on."

Labor Leaders Issue Call. A big part of organized labor of the city, as represented by the 80,000 members of the Chicago Building Trades council, threw itself wholeheartedly in support of "Recruiting Week" during the day. It was announced by Simon O'Donnell and James J. Conroy, president and secretary of the council, that the following resolution will be put up to the members at their meeting tomorrow night:

"Whereas, By the proclamation of the president the week beginning June 23 has been proclaimed as 'Recruiting Week' and calls for volunteers; and whereas, It being understood by said proclamation that these men are to be drilled with special care, that from their ranks future officers of the army may be drawn; and,

"Whereas, the government has increased the salary of all its men, both privates and officers beyond that of any other nation, and exceeding any other compensation paid in this country; therefore be it

"Resolved, That we endorse the action of the president and recommend to our patriotic members the importance of heeding this call to duty."

"The building trades unions are doing everything in their power to aid 'Recruiting Week,'" said Mr. O'Donnell. "Many of the council members have joined the army or navy, and most have signified their intention of doing so."

COOKS MAY JOIN MOVEMENT FOR SAVING OF FOOD

Leader Says They Are Not Left Out of the Nation's Plan.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.] Washington, D. C., June 27.—(Special.)—Plans for mobilization of the women of the country in the food conservation army are progressing rapidly. Today the conservation branch of the food administration, headed by Dr. R. L. Wilbur, was surprised to learn of protests coming from women cooks and waitresses of the country, who, through some misunderstanding, thought they were being discriminated against in the scheme to enlist the women of the land in the saving undertaking.

How the impression got abroad Dr. Wilbur does not know. But he does know that it is to the cooks and household servants that the government is looking for great results in the conservation campaign and that honors are to be showered upon them for keeping the food pledges and seeing that their mistresses keep the pledges which women are asked to make.

May Wear the Badge. Cooks and servants are just as much entitled to wear the badge of the food administration and to wear the uniform of the conservation army as any other women.

"In fact," Dr. Wilbur said today, "the cook who enlists in this organization and keeps her pledges will get references from the government that will be more valuable than any employment reference she could get from her mistress."

"The cook with a reference from Uncle Sam will never want employment."

State Committees Aid. The woman's committee of the council of national defense announced today that registration of women for war service will be handled by the organization of state committees.

This registration, while designed to enlist women for war work in many lines, also covers service with the food administration, home and allied relief work, food production and thrift, educational propaganda, protection of women and children workers, and conservation of health and moral forces. Permanent committees are being formed in each state.

CHAPLAIN HERO OF BATTLE FOR
'DRAGON'S CAVE'

French Win Cavern Which Gives Control Over Trench Line.

(By the Associated Press.)
FRENCH FRONT IN FRANCE, June 27.—A French military chaplain figured prominently with the French troops in a brilliantly successful attack on the Dragon's cave on the Chemin-des-Dames in the neighborhood of Hurel. While advancing with a stretcher bearer, the chaplain was confronted by the fearsome figure of a German officer whose clothing was aflame. The chaplain raised a crucifix and offered religious comfort to the burning man, who responded to the rear where another German officer was creeping out of a hole.

The chaplain, still holding the crucifix aloft, advanced, shouting to the Germans to surrender. The officer replied: "We are ready, but will surrender only to an officer."

A French officer approached and entered the cavern, where 150 Germans, including three officers, laid down their arms.

How Cavern Was Won.

When the French attacked, the position was peculiar. The southern entrance of the enormous cavern, between Grotto farm and the monument commemorating a Napoleonic victory in 1814, was held by the French. The northern entrance was held by the Germans. The cavern was 500 feet long and 300 feet broad.

"Crosses" it the Germans had built a brick wall. Above, on the ridge, the French and German trenches were separated by only a few yards.

The German trenches were won in a flash attack. While the southern entrance was filled with gas, which penetrated to the German section, the northern exit was shelled and showered with machine gun bullets. The operation resulted in the capture of 15 prisoners, including a number of officers. The French now hold all the dominating points on this part of the Chemin-des-Dames.

The prisoners came in batches with hands held high in the air and shouting: "The war is over."

Full Back Into Avion.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, June 27.—German defenses of Lens retreated today into Avion, behind the so-called Avion-Merico "switch line," established in the ruins of the Lens suburbs as the British continued their inclosing movement.

Here, behind railway embankments and slag heaps, the Germans have established machine gun fortresses. British patrols are keeping closely in touch with the retreating enemy.

West of Lens the difficulties in the way of the attacking forces are tremendous, but planners pouring back in a steady stream today declared the German defenses were sorely pressed and fear the worst.

FIND 3 ALIVE IN ZEPPELIN, SHOT DOWN IN BRITAIN

LONDON, June 27.—When a Zeppelin was brought down in one of the eastern counties on June 17, one officer and two of the crew were found alive. This interesting fact was disclosed for the first time today.

Considering that the Zeppelin was destroyed at a height, estimated at from six to nine thousand feet, the escape of these men was miraculous, particularly as they had no opportunity to use parachutes. They fell with the wreckage, part of which caught in a tree, and this possibly broke their fall, saving their lives.

City's Liberty Bonds Reduced.

The city of Chicago's subscription to the Liberty loan was $200,000 instead of $600,000, Controller Eugene S. Pike announced yesterday. He was informed by bankers that because the loan was overvalued all subscriptions in excess of $10,000 will be reduced 40 per cent.

"DIGGING IN" RIGHT MERRILY

Michigan and Wisconsin Future Officers at Fort Sheridan Make the Dirt Fly in "Reproduction" of World's Greatest Battleground.

TYRO OFFICERS DIG IN WITH VIM; SORE BUT HAPPY

Wisconsin-Michigan Men Start Trench Work in Camp.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Fort Sheridan, Ill., June 27.—[Special.]

One of the most important sectors of the allies' French front, a position they have held victoriously for more than two years, is being "reproduced" by members of the reserve officers' training camp.

Eighteen hundred men, millionaires and men dependent upon the $100 a month they receive from the government, pitched into the task of digging trenches today. They were swinging pickaxes and shovels cheerfully enough from the start, but when it became known that their system of trenches was a facsimile of an important part of the world's greatest battle ground, the dirt flew fast and furious.

Cheer News of Troops Landing.

It was top speed and it had not abated when Col. W. J. Nicholson appeared and told some of the regular army officers that American troops had landed in France. Col. Nicholson smiled as he told it.

The captains almost forgot their military manner and showed they wanted to kick their heels in the air. And the students, the men who hope to officer the new federal army, cheered without restraint when the news reached them.

Captain Oscar N. Solbert and Capt. Donald N. Davison, engineer officers in charge of the operations, had to hustle to have the "battleground" laid out in time for the afternoon activities. But they hurried out 1,200 shovels and 600 picks and had them so arranged that when eight companies of the Michigan-Wisconsin regiment marched out and took their places in double columns, a pile of each kind of tool was at the head of each column.

Thousands of yards of white tape held by hundreds of pegs marked the outlines of the trenches. First the trench was removed, not only in the trench space itself, but for another nine feet ahead of the trench. Thus was provided sufficient sod to cover the parapets.

Most of the Soil Hard.

Part of the earth was put into gunnybags, which formed the base of the parapet along the trench edge. All sorts of soil was encountered, but most of it was hard. Pickaxes were never idle. And handaxes came into use with the cutting of sods and even the chopping down of small trees.

Every one of the several forms of exercise made blistered hands and tired backs, but even at the end of three hours of hard labor many of the students wanted to continue another hour.

SHIP PLOT MAY MAKE NORWAY KAISER'S FOE

CHRISTIANIA, June 27.—The Norwegian newspapers continue to publish details of the German plot to destroy Norwegian steamships by explosives brought into the country by a courier of the German foreign office. The plot was revealed by the arrest of three men last week. The afternoon edition of the newspaper insists the arrest of the courier must be upheld even against Germany's protests.

The Morgenbladet, which hitherto has been more or less friendly to Germany, asks whether Germany wishes to force Norway to join the ranks of her enemies and remarks that a naval base on the Norwegian coast would be very important for the entente and would give the American navy a splendid strategic position for cooperation with the British.

This newspaper says further that of all the foolish acts of German diplomats and military leaders in the way of depriving the central powers of friends, this last attempt to blow up the remaining remnants of Norwegian friendship is surely one of the most formidable blunders.

Tells of Plot Against Sweden.

STOCKHOLM, June 27.—The Dagens Nyheter publishes under reserve, a story of a mysterious explosives affair in Sweden, similar to the plot exposed in Christiania. The police, it adds, refuse all information.

EX-ENVOY DUMBA TELLS AUSTRIAN PLAN FOR PEACE

AMSTERDAM, June 27.—Dr. Constantin Dumba, the former Austrian ambassador at Washington, in an article in the Vienna Neue Freie Presse, advocates peace without annexations or indemnities, "however disappointing that formula may sound to the Chauvinists."

Dr. Dumba, speaking from the Austro-Hungarian standpoint, considers that "if the Serbian danger can be held in check by the permanent winning of our turbulent neighbor, and our own territories remain untouched, we shall have every reason to welcome such a solution."

Dr. Dumba's peace plan can be summarized as follows:

Russia to restore the occupied Austro-Hungarian territory, while she regains the Russian territory occupied by the Austro-Germans.

The reestablishment of Poland.

Austria to make certain "frontier rectifications, for reasons of strategic safety." [For instance she ought to retain possession of Belgrade and Mount Lovchen in Montenegro.]

The Roumanian wheat crops must be secured to the central powers by treaty.

Russia to evacuate Valone (Alvoni), and free navigation of the Adriatic must be guaranteed.

Austria will assist Russia to obtain an unhindered exit from the Black sea, and Turkey would not object to the rectification of the Caucasian frontier in favor of Russia.

Bulgaria should get Dobruja and the Bulgarian part of Macedonia.

More July 4th Celebrations.

Fourth of July celebrations have been arranged for Lincoln and Douglas parks in addition to those already announced.

BRINGING HOME THE BACON.

The rivers and harbors pork bill passed the house yesterday afternoon, but we hope the senate will defeat it. Congressmen ask the country to practice economy and conservation, yet they proceed to commit the country to one of the worst pieces of national extravagance ever devised.

The appetite for pork is so great that not even war seems to dull its edge. Though the country voluntarily goes without meat, congress refuses to give up its pork.

The people of the United States, facing the prospect of $2,000,000,000 war taxation, will not quickly condone an expenditure of $27,000,000 for rivers and harbors projects that are useless or unnecessary at the present time. If the pork bill goes through people will have a right to complain about a heavy burden of taxes for wasteful improvements.

The man of small income who pays an income tax for the first time is not going to be very happy about it if he finds the money is to be spent for dredging rivers that never had and never will have any commerce.

The housewife probably will have something to say if she discovers that the 3 cent tax on cocoa is imposed to raise $5,000,000 for building locks and dams in the Ohio river, as well as an additional $1,000,000 or so to pay for improving the lower Mississippi.

The total amount of the bill, to make another comparison, is equivalent to the total tax which the house proposes to place on electric lights, gas, domestic power, and telephone service. It is twice as large as the sum the house expects to raise by taxing express business. Or to make still another comparison, it will require the total war taxes to be levied on advertising, insurance, auto tires, and motion picture films to meet the extravagance of this bill.

Congressman Lever's action in getting an appropriation for the Congaree river boosted from $30,000 to $30,000 is an illustration of "bringing home the bacon" as it is practiced in the house. The irony of the situation is evident when we recall that Mr. Lever is the author of the food control bill and a special pleader for economy in the American home.

The Congaree is a little river in South Carolina. Its commerce is practically confined to a barge line, and it is for the maintenance of this line that the appropriation is desired. The army engineers said they could not approve an expenditure of more than $30,000 on the river, yet Mr. Lever appealed to the house for more than double that amount—and got it.

THE BILLINGS MISSION.

The announcement that Dr. Frank Billings will head a medical mission to Russia is one of the most gratifying events since war preparations began. The condition of Russia is one of the most dangerous and critical in the war situation, and any contribution to an ally which may at any moment be precipitated into a condition of complete anarchy and ruin, or transformed into an enemy, must be highly speculative. At the same time if we may cherish any hope that Russia will become again an efficient member of the alliance it must largely rest upon the influence of our friendly offices. Of these offices surely a medical mission can hardly fail to be well received, as from our knowledge of Russian needs it is badly needed.

In sending Dr. Billings, who goes at great personal sacrifice and the interruption of important public work at home, America sends the best man who could be chosen. Not only is Dr. Billings one of the most distinguished physicians in America—a man of high international reputation—but he is a builder, a man of great constructive gifts. His service to the Russian army and people will not fail to be both benignant and memorable.

JAM FOR THE BOYS.

One of the innumerable problems war has brought us or accentuated is to find enough containers for perishable foodstuffs. The canning and other food manufacturing industries, we understand, have been asked to confine the use of tin solely to material which cannot be kept in other containers. Paper receptacles will be used as much as possible, and we now learn there is great need for an increased output of glass tumblers and jars for jams, jellies, and other commodities which will be used in increased quantities during the war.

This would seem to be a matter worth Secretary Redfield's and Mr. Hoover's attention. The glass factories complain of labor shortage and difficulties of transport. If help is given at once the necessary alterations in plants to increase output can be made before the canning season begins, and our soldier boys who will call for plenty of sweets, and will, in fact, need plenty, will not be disappointed. We have had a theory that military service ought to be made as uncomfortable as possible, but we hope it is disappearing. Let's try to get the soldier as much as we can. He deserves the best.

POLITICS AND THE DRAFT.

The presence of a number of politicians on the exemption boards named by Gov. Lowden suggests there is a real danger that some of these boards may allow political considerations to control their decisions. We hope this danger is only apparent and not actual. We do not believe it is Gov. Lowden's intention to permit politics to enter into the Illinois draft. Certainly there could be no greater scandal than drafting men or exempting them for political reasons. To avert such a scandal, it might be wise to create a high class, impartial commission, or at least to form a citizens' commission to supervise the entire draft. Such a commission need not interfere with the regular conscription machinery, but it could investigate complaints that any particular board was biased or unfair. The charges might be found to be absolutely groundless, yet the investigation would be worth while in disposing of complaints that might otherwise irritate the community.

REGULAR ARMY WEEK.

The slow rate of response to the president's call for 70,000 volunteers for the regular army might be disappointing to our pride, but it is not surprising. The campaign of education in favor of universal service, the demonstration of injustice and inefficiency of the volunteer system last summer, the existence of a draft law which will bring men into the service who can best afford to go, all put a check upon the impulse to volunteer now. This we believe was inevitable, though it is unfortunate if it be taken as comfort by the enemy. We are passing through a transition period from a wrong system to the right system, and the volunteer system, now pretty thoroughly discredited in all thinking minds, is giving up the ghost.

We need not fear to confess that there is some opposition and more indifference to the war. Many Americans do not think it advisable that American troops should go abroad to fight. They hold to the fallacy that we can always defend ourselves at home, and do not realize that the cheapest and surest defense may sometimes be, and as our government has determined, is now, by defeating the enemy abroad. Others sympathize with Germany so far as her contest with the allies alone is concerned. Nevertheless, it will be a great mistake, in our opinion, to conclude from the present operation of what remains of the volunteer system, that the American people are irresolute or will fail to support the war to victory.

That mistake might be natural to those who are not acquainted with the unwavering but intense pride and patriotism of the mass of the American people. There was a considerable opinion in England against the war, but England is going through. And the American people, pledged now to go in, will go in with a will, and to win.

There should be no volunteer armies. There should be one great national army raised under an equal law of military duty. The volunteer system is departing, happily for America's future, and while it remains we hope it will bring many men to the colors who desire to serve and who are not within the limits of the draft, or who being within it are anxious to get into the first army under favorable circumstances.

Volunteer now and you will enter the regular army and have the advantage of a larger proportion of well trained officers than can be given to later forces. You will get to the battle front sooner and the chances of promotion will come earlier.

Already American regulars are in France, marching through cheering streets. Soon they will be at the front with Old Glory over them. This is your chance to join an organization which has proved its soldierly unpretentious heroism on the battlefields of the republic for more than a century, whose ancestors were the ragged Continentals, Washington's stay on every field, and the firm reliance of every commander who ever fought a battle for our country.

THE GEMMILL CHARGES.

The exonerated of Bailiff Gemmill by the Municipal court committee of judges is, according to Judge Gemmill, a "piece of whitewashing."

We do not presume to be in a position to pass on the merits of the question, but we are inclined to think the investigation of Judge Gemmill's charges was superficial. If any body of men should be able to keep a clean house, it ought to be the judges of the Municipal court. They certainly cannot afford to allow suspicion to go abroad that they are countenancing or suppressing corrupt conditions in the conduct of the bailiff's office. The committee complains that Judge Gemmill refused to appear and present his charges in detail; they apparently expected him to assume the rôle of a prosecuting officer. Inasmuch as Judge Gemmill's refusal to appear was based solely on his objection to the personnel of the committee, it seems a greater effort might have been made to insure a thorough investigation.

Editorial of the Day

THE DOCTOR.

(From the People Journal.)

Twelve Chicago doctors enlisted recently for service which will probably take them to the European battlefields. According to the news reports, four of these doctors give up very large practices, and, as is generally known, a doctor's practice when once given up cannot be regained by the mere asking.

There is nothing especially unique in the announcement that twelve Chicago doctors enlisted for war service. Peoria doctors have done the same thing, and doctors in thousands of cities throughout the country have voluntarily given up more or less remunerative practices in order to offer their services to their country during war times. However, the enlistment of these thousands of doctors bears silent testimony of the rare traits which have characterized doctors since the very days of doctor pioneering.

In an address a few days ago, Henry F. Davidson, chairman of the war council of the American Red Cross, paid the following tribute to the doctors: "The attitude of the doctors at this time is greatly gratifying. Unselfishness and patriotism distinguish them. The leaving of an established practice in order to do Red Cross work with practically no pay or in order to do field work at an insignificant salary surely puts the doctors down as men devoted to the best interests of the people and of their country."

Mr. Davidson might just as well have gone further. Not only is the doctor who leaves for war duty an unselfish and useful man but he comes from a class which does as much service for humanity, perhaps, as any other class in times of peace as well as war. Here's to the doctor. If he makes his military service he never turns down a sick patient because that patient does not happen to have a bank book full of money. He works just as hard to relieve a poor man suffering from his disease as he does to relieve the millionaire. He knows the family woes and the family griefs—and he keeps them to himself. If he complains at being called from his bed at 3 o'clock in the morning, he doesn't carry his complaints to us.

MR. WILSON'S CHIEF LIABILITY.

(From the Minneapolis Journal.)

Secretary Daniels is not by temperament, philosophy, or experience fitted to head the navy department in time of war—particularly this war. His four years' record of administration has not been admirable. He has damaged the navy. A bad secretary in time of peace, what warrant is there that he will prove a great secretary in this war? The president should dispense with Mr. Daniels. This is no time to consult any man's feelings. An inefficient navy head should be scrapped with no more ceremony than an inefficient fleet commander. Mr. Daniels is Mr. Wilson's chief liability.

Let it flame or fade, and the war roll down like a wind.

We have proved we have hearts in a cause, we are noble still, And myself have awaked, as it seems, to the better mind; It is better to fight for the good than to rail at the ill; I have felt with my native land, I am one with my kind, I embrace the purpose of God, and the doom assigned."

Dear Sirs: I see you in the paper that you ask for boarding places. We live in an old room house on the very bank of the lake in regards to room we want you to send us a bunch of men that will all sleep in one big room or at least no doors between (to admit air). We want men who will eat in the kitchen as all sleep. We want men who will stay here. It is a room house. There is a whole big lake here to wash in and a big green grassy outdoors to play in and I'll give all the fish they want to catch and if it is too hot to sleep up stairs they can all sleep in the grass. ### SUNBURN AND FRECKLES.

SUNBURN.—Sunburn results from the action of the chemical part of the sun's rays. It is not the heat end of the ray that burns nor even the light portion. It has been noted that the sun can burn when it is not hot. It can also burn when there is but little glare. In an effort to protect the tender, deeper portion of the skin pigment develops in the skin. This is tanning. There is no necessary relation between the shade of white of the skin and the richness of the blood. White-skinned people are generally palid it is not always so. The hemoglobin in the blood in the vessels of the skin shows through, giving the pink complexion of rugged health or the pallor of anemic blood.

But pallor may result from living in a cellar, in a dark room, or in a prison cell in cases where examination shows that the blood is moderately rich. On the other hand, a few hours of exposure to sun or wind may give the skin a rich, "healthy" tan in a person the examination of whose blood shows a low hemoglobin percentage. An experienced physician, then, is right in assuming that the inside of the eyelids, the lips, the gums, and the cheeks, and disregards the tint of the skin.

If the skin is exposed to the sun or wind without first being tanned a local inflammation is set up. The local inflammation may take the form of redness and swelling resembling erysipelas, or it may be productive of blisters. If the skin is kept moist it is not apt to sunburn, though it is not tanned. Tanned skin is not liable to burn. Therefore, to prevent sunburn where exposure is inevitable, the skin should be gradually tanned. Or it should be kept moist.

For the treatment of bad sunburn grease with glycerin and water or with any grease. If the burn is bad apply Goulard's solution and cap removed when the skin is dry.

FRECKLES.—Freckles are due to a deposit of pigment in the deeper layer of the skin. Mothers warn their children to keep out of the sun lest they develop freckles. They are right in saying that there is some kinship between freckles and tanning. As in tanning, the skin is attempting to protect the more delicate, deeper areas against the chemical part of the sun's rays. Therefore, we expect freckles to get worse in spring and to get better in autumn, to be worst in the thin skins of childhood and to lessen toward middle life.

There are skins so fair that no effective freckle cream can be used. It is the person who ever heard of a freckled baby? I have before me a letter from a mother who has noticed that freckles are appearing on her baby between 1 and 2 years of age. This condition is not congenital freckles. This baby is developing a somewhat serious skin disease. Again, freckles appearing in old people.

(Copyright, 1917: By the Brentwood Co.)

CONSTANTINE NABOKOFF, who has just been appointed by the provisional government at Petrograd to assume charge of the Russian embassy in London, with the rank of minister plenipotentiary, will be recalled in America as having accompanied the late Count Sergius Witte to Portsmouth, N. H., to take part in the Russo-Japanese peace conference there in 1905.

He returned to the United States in 1910, and then spent two years at Washington as first secretary, proceeding thence to Calcutta, as consul general for India. He is a son of that Dmitri Nabokoff who was minister of justice at Petrograd during the reign of Alexander II, and Alexander III, and is a brother of Vladimir Nabokoff, secretary in chief of the provisional government, and minister for the affairs of the Caucasus.

Vladimir Nabokoff has achieved prominence in Russia as a writer, and was associated with Prof. Milukoff in the foundation of the Constitutional Democratic party, which contributed so largely to bringing about the downfall of Emperor Nicholas.

Nabokoff's appointment as minister plenipotentiary in London may be regarded as an indication that ex-Foreign Minister Sergius Sazonoff, who as minister for foreign affairs at Petrograd negotiated the Russian alliance between the Muscovite empire and the powers of the entente, has abandoned the idea of taking up the post of ambassador in London, to which he was appointed a few weeks before the collapse of the monarchy on the banks of the Neva.

Capt. Hon. Ralph Vane, married last week to a New Zealand heiress named Katharine, an officer of the Durham Light Infantry regiment, in which he has been service at the front, and is a younger son of Lord Barnard; therefore in the line of succession to the dukedom of Devonshire, he is a peer, and a seat in the House of Lords; his two elder brothers being childless, and he has inherited through his mother, a daughter of the third Marquis of Exeter, the good looks for which the members of that branch of the house of Cecil are so justly celebrated.

This comeliness of the senior branch line of the Cecil, headed by Lord Exeter, is popularly attributed to the first Marquis' romantic marriage with Saline Hoggin, and which forms the theme of Tenneyson's famous novel entitled "The Lord of Burleigh." This Lord Exeter, while still Lord Burleigh, had married a Miss Vernon, who sloped from him after his divorce he took to travel about the country on foot, in the guise of an artist and landscape painter, for the purpose of seeking diversion. In the course of his wanderings he fell in love with the daughter of a Shropshire peasant named Thomas Rogers, and without disclosing his identity he wooed, won, and married her, in the little Shropshire church of Boles, where his name can still be seen in the parish register as "Henry Cecil."

A woman of singular beauty and of much natural refinement, she had no suspicion that her husband was one of the wealthiest noblemen of the United Kingdom. The way in which he ultimately disclosed his name and title to her is exquisitely told by Tenneyson in the poem. Accompanied by her, he still in the guise of a wandering artist, leads her from mansion to mansion and from park to park, to inspect the stately ple is not a serious matter. It indicates a general breaking down of tissues—a true senility. In its wake are very apt to come mild varieties of skin cancer.

If there are but one or two freckles, and these must be removed, it can be done by touching them with carbolic acid. If there are more of them they can be treated with Nune's paste, made as follows:

Oxychloride of bismuth, one dram; calomel, one-sixth grain; peroxide of hydrogen, one dram; lanolin and vaseline, four ounces each.

But my advice is that a freckled person glory in his freckles.

TREATMENT FOR MALARIA.

W. W. writes: "I have been suffering at intervals more or less with malaria, and I understand that quinine is the only cure. If this is true, please tell me how I should take it—the size of dose, how often to take it, and how long to continue its use. Also if any other treatment should be taken in connection with the quinine, or whether anything else should be taken, either before or after its use. Your reply will be highly appreciated."

REPLY.

Take an ordinary purgative. The taking of calomel is a fetch. Calomel is as good as any other purgative but no better. Take 20 grains of quinine a day for four days. At this season of the year use a grain quinine capsules each containing one-quarter grain of quinine. Take two capsules every two hours until six are taken. After that take 25 grains of quinine in capsule every Saturday and Sunday for six weeks.

WILL BE REJECTED.

Anxious writes: "Am writing you for advice about the following: I am a young man 25 years old, married, and have family. When a child of nine years I was struck in the eye by a piece of gun cap, thereby destroying the sight. I had eyeballs and cap removed when 15 years old. The right eye is the one lost. Want your opinion as to whether I am exempt."

REPLY.

The examining surgeon will reject you.

REQUIRES EARLY ATTENTION.

C. S. P. writes: "As I am a subscriber, I would like to be advised in regard to serious stomach trouble. What treatment would you advise for gastric ulcer of the stomach? Would you advise an emetic? Is it a very serious operation? What treatment would you advise for catarrhal gastritis?"

REPLY.

If you have ulcer of the stomach you should be under the direction of the best physician available. Ulcer of the stomach can be cured by proper regulation of eating, nourishment, exercise, etc. Left to itself, it is a dangerous condition. Operation is not required for most cases. The operation is a serious one.

CAR LINE EXTENSIONS.

Chicago, June 25.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Is there any intention of extending street car service on Kedzie avenue south of Marquette park, now that the aviation field is located at Ashbury, the city limits? Also inform me as to service further south on Fortieth avenue.

FASHION'S
BLUE BOOK

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondent.)—There are a few styles with such hardy constitutions that they last for several months. One of such rugged types is the frock with the transparent top. Such dresses came up with the first crocus, but they wouldn't croak like those poor frail crocuses. Not a bit of it.

And if at any time you should suddenly find yourself in a room where every other woman is wearing a satin combined with a crocus top, or a tulle combined with an orchid top, or any of those strange hybrid fancies, don't let anybody put you out. You are in one of the haunts of fashion. Stay and let down every single thing that you see. The frock worn by the lady today was captured in the Ritz tearoom. It is one of those same transparent top things and then some. The lower section of the skirt is of black satin and the upper part is of black and white chiffon. That, you know, is the combination one sees everywhere. Then there is some more. An overdress of black chiffon on the skirt trillies two big loops of cream colored lace and some more lace appears in sleeves on bodice. The skirt is of black satin with roses of lace for pendants.

Real Love Stories.

"The Tribune" will pay $5 for every real love story published. If you have one, submit it, and write no more than 300 words. Address Doris Blake, "The Tribune," Chicago. No manuscript returned. If you have a perplexing love affair upon which you need the counsel of a friend, write Doris Blake. Send stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

'Round the World.

A NEW YORK girl and her mother started on a trip around the world. When they reached Havana she was introduced to a charming young American, a Cuban and a great favorite among the American population of the island.

He escorted her to many enjoyable parties during their two days' stay in the city, and when the large steamer pulled out from the docks of Havana they had each other affectionate good-bys. The mail was sent by the steamer and full of correspondence, and finally when she reached Paris she received a cablegram from the young man from Cuba saying, "Will you marry me?" She replied, "Yes," so he came immediately to Paris, where she met him at the station. They had a magnificent wedding eight months after they had been introduced, and their wedding day was the third day they had spent together.

This startling romance has proven a very satisfactory and happy one.

Invitation to Dance.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am coming to you for aid. I am a youth 18 years of age. Will you please give me the proper words to be used to ask a young lady to dance with me? I will be very thankful to you. Please print my answer in your corner, which I have been reading for the last three years. PHILIP."

Say: "May I have the pleasure of this dance?" or, if you wish to speak for the one ahead, "May I have the pleasure of the next dance?"

Gift for Her Brother.

"Dear Miss Blake: Will you please suggest some graduation gifts from which I can choose something for the young brother of the girl to whom I am engaged? GORDON."

How about these? A leather belt, monogrammed buckle; a sweater, a kiosk, collar bag, strap watch for Scouts and soldiers, fountain pen, or a book of two by his favorite writer.

Evanston Women
Urge Senators to Support Hoover

By Mae Tinsie.

THE Evanston Women's club is another organization which is grappling with the food problem. It has decided that war was always unsteady the law of supply and demand, and so an attempt unavailably forces up the cost of foods. The club contends, however, that profiteering in forcing up the prices of food should not be tolerated.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Dwight H. Perkins, a letter was sent yesterday to Senator Sherman and Senator Lewis urging them to support the food control bill as passed by the house.

"We believe with Mr. Hoover that the exorbitant prices of foods are due to speculation," says the letter. "Patronism, justice, and discretion all urge correction of the exorbitant prices which we suffer. We urge your support of this bill as passed by the house, including the liquor prohibition measure."

Other women are urged to write similar letters.

Lady Aberdeen chapter, I. O. O. F. E. will meet Tuesday, July 3, at the British-American war shop in the Stevens building for all day sewing. "Come early and bring your lunch," says the announcement. All the chapters of this organization are working hard, making a variety of useful garments for the soldiers and sailors. The men who work in the air are not being forgotten either, and the windshields made of old kid gloves are being manufactured by the score for aviators.

Miss Mary McDowell, head of the University of Chicago settlement, will be the guest of the Chicago College club at a tea tomorrow at 4 p. m. Miss McDowell is chairman of a committee on foreign women in industry, a subcommittee of the council of national defense, and is inaugurating a plan for teaching the English language to foreign women in shops and factories. College women are urged to volunteer as teachers.

The last of the weekly informal conferences on "Problems of Democracy in War Time" will be given Friday at the Hotel La Salle under the auspices of the Woman's Peace party. Dean James V. Hall of the University of Chicago law school will open the discussion of "The Possibility of World Organization."

The drama league announces a series of free Friday evening popular entertainments in the auditorium of the Municipal play. The first will be this Friday and will consist of "Plantation Songs and Dances." Well known professional entertainers, near professionals, and amateurs will take part. The idea is to make the entertainments community affairs—a lot of league and not too much drama—"as one person expressed it. Mrs. Josephine Clement of the Navy league is director.

This Exercise
Should Improve
Round Shoulders

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

ALMA: HERE IS AN EXERCISE for round shoulders. Stand erect, with the feet together and both arms extended on a plane with the shoulders, so that the first position the left arm is extended directly in front of the body and the right arm on the same plane behind the body. The arms must be held rigidly on the same plane. By a circular movement the motion of the left arm is assumed by the right, and vice versa. During the entire movement the feet must be kept firmly planted on the floor, pivoting at the hips only, while making the continuous circular movement of the arms. In addition to this you must practice standing correctly, sitting correctly, and walking correctly, morning and night. Also practice deep breathing, instruction which I shall be glad to send you for a stamped, addressed envelope.

Little Theater
Company Revived

The Chicago Little Theater company, which recently went through bankruptcy because of a deficiency in the endowment fund, will renew its activities in the early fall. The endowment fund of $10,000, which was needed to start operations again, has been obtained and the reorganization is completed. The company was forced to seek new quarters during the period of bankruptcy, and is now located in the Monodock building, in rooms donated by Arthur Aldis, a loyal supporter of the company.

According to present plans the players will leave for New York Oct. 16, where they will open a four weeks' engagement at the Comedy theater, the home of the famous Washington Square players. They will then make a three weeks' tour, ending at Chicago. Maurice Browne, director of the company, said that they had procured an option on a downtown theater for a run of twenty weeks.

"The outlook at present is better," he said, "than it has ever been in the history of this company, and, although the draft may take a number of our players, we look for a very successful season."

Girls! Make Beauty Cream!
Lemon Juice Whitens Skin

Prepare a quarter pint for few cents and massage face, neck, arms and hands. Try it and see!

Any grocer will sell you two fresh lemons and your drug store or toilet counter will supply you with three ounces of Orchard White. Put these in a bottle and shake well. Here you have a whole quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon lotion at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams.

Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothen and beautifier.

Used by day, this sweetly fragrant lotion protects the skin from the evil effects of the weather and prevents roughness, redness, chafing and smarting. At night it works in the pores while you sleep, and is intended to bring a freshness and peach-like beauty that wins envy and admiration.

Just try it! Make up a quarter pint and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms, and hands. It works marvelously on rough, red hands. It is just splendid.

Genuine Orchard White bears the name, Edward Wesley Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Late-But Early
Enough to
Be Interviewed

By Mae Tinsie.

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG slipped into town yesterday, arguing that, just arrived from a journey one is dusty, tired, and apt to be cross—and I do like 'em pleasant when I interview 'em. So, waiting until she was all cozy in her room at the hotel, I called up. Vurr! pleasantly indeed she said she would see me at 2:30.

Right on the dot I was at the desk asking to be announced. Some three-quarters of an hour later I saw, alighting from a taxi in front of the door which I had sat facing for three-quarters of an hour that my prey might not escape me when she did deign to appear, was Miss Young, accompanied by one whom it was to develop later is her manager, and the cause of the delay, having left the lady at the ribbon counter in our largest department store while he did some foraging for himself.

"I told him I had to be back at 2:30," she said, rolling large and reproachful eyes in his direction. "I told him. But that's all the good it ever does to tell a man anything!"

"Well," I said, "you're here now—we'll sit right here in the lobby and have our chat." Whereupon it developed that Miss Young was going to the ball game.

"Tell you what you do," said the de-linquent manager, "jump right in the taxi with us and have your chat on the way to the ball park." Which I did.

Miss Young has been making a tour in her own interests, closing up territory for her own self. "Hereafter," said she, "I—not Mr. Selznick—will get the money." Also, hereafter she deposes that she's going to appear in any more of "those girl-going-wrong" things. She will appear in nice, spotless dramas or comedy dramas where she can look pretty and wear good clothes.

"For my public does want me dressed up," says Miss Young. Her first picture under her own management will be "The Marionettes," in which Nazimova appeared.

What did she have on? Well, girls, she was neat, but not gaudy. She wore a blue and white striped sports shirt with silk sweater to match, a broad white leghorn hat with a white tassel, white shoes and stockings, and three pieces of diamond and platinum jewelry—brooch, ring, and chain. She has reduced, and now anybody could easily mistake her for a handsome school miss for she has the smooth, unruined skin, the questioning eyes, and the inexpressible smile of a child. In manner she is simple and unaffected. Popularity has not spoiled her so far as the casual observer can see.

She is in the midst of suiting and counter-suiting with Mr. Selznick, who, she declares, is doing his best in every way to foil her!

COMMENT

One of Paramount's confidential men told me yesterday that that corporation had secured William S. Hart, Thomas Ince, and Mack Sennett—contracts to have been signed Tuesday.

A meeting of the First National Exhibitors' circuit, composed of twenty-seven members who control some 400 theaters, will be held this noon at the Congress hotel.

Report has it that Paramount has made a $300,000 deal with the Nixon Nirdlinger theaters, eliminating big booking agencies.

It is formally announced that Julian Johnson, who for years had edited Photoplay magazine, has left that publication to be scenario editor for the Selznick enterprises.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q.—I bought Celarac Giant Prague at a prominent seed store and sowed it in two rows April 21. It has not sprouted yet and I would like to hear from you before sowing more.

A.—I also sowed Upland cress the beginning of April, some April 21, and the rest the middle of May. None of it has germinated. I have pretty good results with everything else, and wonder where I could have done wrong.

A.—Which is the proper treatment for onion sets running to seed? J. C. Ans.—Probably sown too early for your heavy soil this backward season. The seed, no doubt, rotted in the ground on account of cold, wet soil. It happened this year even among expert gardeners. It is now too late to reseed, but you can still plant celarac seedlings until about July 15.

Land cress should not have been sown till Aug. 6 and until Aug. 18, in drills one-half inch deep, three to four seeds to the inch, ten inches between rows. Fill the drill with water and let it soak in before sowing. Keep the ground well moistened.

Onion sets run to seed if sets used were too large or when not cultivated enough. Simply cut the seed stem out.

Ant colonies in the garden, we repeat once more, can be permanently exterminated as follows: Locate the nests in the ground, and with an iron bar poke one or two holes to the bottom of each. Pour an ounce or two of carbon bisulphide into each hole, close it quickly with a clod of dirt, and cover the entire nest with a wet blanket to retain the gas created by the evaporation of the liquid. Carbon bisulphide is highly inflammable and must not be exposed where there is a burning lamp, lantern, gas flame, or fire.

The "potato bin" discovery described by a Kansas City paper some two months ago has been submitted to THE TRIBUNE garden department in one form or another every week or so since then. This column has consistently refrained from publishing any of these or other ways of wasting the limited seed potato supply, believing that the same number of potatoes planted on the same soil area [624 square feet] will produce better and more potatoes when exposed to nature's sun and rainfall than when piled up six feet high in a space 65 feet. Neither will 576 square feet of humus be permanently "skipped" from soil elsewhere. Those urging such departures from approved methods should guarantee to protect the trusting beginner against loss and disappointment—should replace, from their own unused property, all the topsoil of which, in the aggregate, large areas of fertile land will be denuded as a result of such recommendations.

Q.—Three of my four single and double althea bushes were reset this spring. None of these has sprouted, although when the bark is scraped lightly it is found to be green. What is the trouble? Can they be expected to come into foliage?—C. P. S.

Ans.—Many shrubs planted late have not yet sprouted. Cultivate to ventilate the soil. Later, when the weather is hot and dry, water them—not now. The chances are still good, although they will probably not flower this year.

Q.—The real genuine "Corn Killer" is here at last. No humbug. Ice-Mint, the new discovery made from a Japanese product, is said to surely and quickly end all foot misery. Think of it, only a touch or two of that cooling, soothing Ice-Mint and real foot joy is yours. No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying it or afterwards, and it doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

Every foot sufferer can appreciate a treatment like this, especially women who wear high heel shoes and men who are obliged to stand on their feet all day.

Try it. Just ask in any drug store for a small jar of Ice-Mint and learn for yourself what solid foot comfort really is. There is nothing like it—Adv.

Q.—How Cool, Easy and Comfortable Your Feet Will Feel!

Corn sufferers gather round; get right up close and listen; here's good news for you.

You can enjoy a delightful shampoo with very little effort and for a very trifling cost, if you get from your druggist a package of shampoo of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply to the top of the head. Your shampoo is now ready. Just pour a little at a time on the scalp and hair until both are entirely covered by the daintily perfumed preparation that thoroughly solves and removes every bit of dirt, rinsing the hair free quickly, with a fluffiness that makes it seem heavier than it is, and takes on a luster and a softness that makes arranging it a pleasure.

Mrs. James R. MacColl Jr.

Mrs. James R. MacColl Jr., who was Miss Louise Kimbark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Underwood Kimbark of Evanston, is one of the season's most charming brides. The marriage last Monday evening to St. Luke's church was of more than usual interest to society people of the north shore. Mr. and Mrs. MacColl now are motoring in the east. They will live in Evanston.

Mrs. Kellie Fairbank moved that the convention, petition congress to pass legislation providing that where contracts are let by the government provision be made for federal investigation of the labor conditions under which they are carried out. This was carried, and was also a motion calling for an eight hour shift for women workers in the treasury department.

Mrs. Gordon Wilson, who has just returned from the French front, and Mrs. Frank Scott told of the pitiable lack of supplies—coal, blankets, and other necessities—to care for the sick civilians and many of the wounded soldiers in France.

With many fathers going overseas, said Mrs. Sophronia P. Breckenridge, the wives and mothers face added burdens as family comforter and disciplinarian. Mrs. William S. Hoffman advocated a call for volunteers to handle the problem of Americanizing foreign families here, and later suggested overalls in place of insular skirts, if women are called to work in industrial plants.

Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy outlined the plans of the Red Cross, while Mrs. John J. McMahon urged cooperation in this work. Mrs. William S. Hoffman said her husband who ultimately will go to France. A Negro delegate, Mrs. Davis, brought forth rounds of applause when she asked if provision had been made for women of her color to take part in the work.

Mrs. Dunlap Smith and Wilbur Reynolds of the central council of social agencies made a plea for volunteers for home charities.

Plea Made at Convention for Women Workers

PLEA for women employed by the government and in factories, many of which are working on war contracts, was made at the closing session yesterday of the women's war convention in the Fine Arts building.

"Women in Washington, in the treasury department, are being made to work from twelve to fifteen hours a day, with no holidays," said Mrs. Raymond Robins, "and many of the factories are making the women work far too long. No woman with small children can work like this and live."

"Many of the factory women work at night because their husbands are at home in the evenings to see that the babies don't fall out of bed. There should be no night work for women with little children; they should work in eight hour shifts."

"If necessary we women here should do as the women of leisure have done in England, and spend our week ends in the factories so that the mothers of future citizens may be protected."

Miss Mary McDowell and Miss Jessie Blinford spoke along similar lines.

Mrs. Kellie Fairbank moved that the convention, petition congress to pass legislation providing that where contracts are let by the government provision be made for federal investigation of the labor conditions under which they are carried out. This was carried, and was also a motion calling for an eight hour shift for women workers in the treasury department.

LOWDEN TO CUT OFF INCREASES IN SALARIES

Governor Spends Hot Day Hearing Arguments on Many Bills.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Springfield, Ill., June 27.—[Special.]—Gov. Lowden put in most of a typically hot Springfield day listening to arguments on contested bills that await his final action.

Chief of Police Schuetler of Chicago arrived early this morning and went into action immediately against the Jewell "third degree" bill. He told Gov. Lowden approval of the bill means that the police department might as well quit business. He said the effect of such a law would be to restrain police officers from using lawful and reasonable methods in getting at the truth, while it would be used by unscrupulous lawyers and clever crooks in getting from under rigid examinations.

Fear "Bone Dry" Days.
School book men were here in force to protest against favorable action on the Dailley text book bill. This bill provides for uniform text books with uniform price list throughout the state. Insurance representatives entered objections to the Hamilton insurance bill respecting reinsurance.

Chicago city hall men were much in evidence, with M. J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, as their spokesman. He declared a special session of the legislature must be held immediately if congress enacts any "bone dry" legislation.
"It will put Chicago financially out of commission, unless we can get legislation that will permit us to increase the tax rate for municipal purposes," Mr. Faherty said. "The loss of $7,000,000

HOPE

Tenement Mothers and Children See Brighter Days Ahead in Camp if Public Will Help.

In a few days 150 tenement mothers and children will go to the Tenthredine hospital at Algonquin. That will mean that those mothers, who are convalescing, and those children, who have because of sickness been neglected as to food and fresh air, will return, after two weeks, well and with a new regard for a world that has not been too kind to them.

A crew of men was placed at work yesterday erecting the family tents at Camp Algonquin, which is carried on by the United Charities in connection with the hospital. More money is needed to carry on the summer work. Bernard C. Roloff of the United Charities has estimated that $11,000 will be necessary. So far only $1,000 of that has been subscribed. The cost is $3 a person and the treatment makes the world brighter for a host of sick women.

The first group for the camp will start July 5. The hospital has been opened.
In annual saloon revenue will be ruinous at this time.
Included in the bills approved today were the two good roads measures. One carries $1,250,000 per annum from the general fund for road construction under the Rice law; the other reapportioned an expended balance of $1,173,729 from the hard roads fund.

Approves Armory Bills.
Gov. Lowden approved bills for the completion of the First Cavalry and Second Infantry armories, in Chicago, and other armories at Ottawa, Galesburg, and Monmouth.

The University of Illinois bill, carrying $4,800,000, which is raised by a special tax, and which caused a terrific uproar in the closing days of the session, was approved.

The Guernsey bill revising motor vehicle license qualifications and regulations was signed, as was the Bar-Joliet bill for the sale of certain lands in Joliet to the Illinois Steel company. Gov. Lowden permitted the bill requiring city court judges to be licensed attorneys to become a law without his signature.

'PORK' MEASURE OF $27,000,000 PASSES HOUSE

Small Prospect Bill Will Go Through the Senate; Vote 235 to 231.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., June 27.—[Special.]—The $27,000,000 rivers and harbors "pork" bill, with appropriations so grouped that it was impossible to separate the meritorious from the unnecessary projects, passed the house today by a vote of 235 to 231, with seven voting "present."

Despite the fight that was made for the time economy by Representatives Madden and Gallagher of Illinois, Frear of Wisconsin, and several others the bill was passed under the pretense of a "defense" measure, its supporters asserting that the items in it were necessary to the national defense.

There is little prospect of the bill's passage in the senate, although the southern senators whose districts would benefit by the "pork" in the bill probably will make a determined fight for its passage.

The vote in the middle west on the "pork" bill was:
Illinois—Ayes—Copley, Denison, Rodenberg, Noes—Britton, Cannon, Foss, King, Gallagher, Graham, Ireland, McKenna, McAndrews, McCormick, McKenzie, Wheeler, Wilson. Not voting—Fuller, Juhl, Mann, Martin, Rainey, Present—McKieley.

Indiana—Ayes—Barnhart, Cox, Dixon, Wood, Noes—Bland, Fairfield, Kraus, Moore, Sanders, Vestal. Not voting—Denton, Purnell.

TALLMAN BLAMES POOR LIGHTING FOR HEAVY FALL

Nathan H. Tallman, who one week ago was mysteriously injured at the Lake Lawn hotel at Delavan, Wis., yesterday gave out his first statement of how he met with his injuries. Mr. Tallman is still in a sanitarium at Delavan, suffering from a broken arm.

"I had retired to my room," he said, "and because of the stuffiness of the air I dressed, intending to go out and take a walk. The lighting was poor in the hallway and I mistook the door leading to the porch roof for that of the stairway. Before I could discover my mistake I lost my balance and slid headlong from the roof. My first thought was that I had broken my back, and in the delirium that set in I may have made statements that were misinterpreted."

"More because I was in terrible pain than anything else, I begged the persons who found me to keep my wife from me."

$21 Added to Fund for Widow of Stain Junkman

Twenty-one dollars was added yesterday by donations of readers of this TRIBUNE to the fund for the relief of the family of David Stry, the junkman who was murdered by boy robbers for the $13 he carried. The widow was left destitute, with four children to support. The contributors yesterday were J. Rothschild, $10; M. A. Goldberg, $10, and "a friend," $1. With $143.50 previously acknowledged the fund is now $164.50.

In the first series of contributions to this fund—amounting to $40, and forwarded to Mrs. Stry on June 24—was a $5 check by Dr. Samuel M. Marcus of the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium.

Short covering was responsible for a sharp rally in corn futures during the latter part of the session yesterday, and closing figures were practically better for the day. The weekly government report showed a surplus of 13,600,000 bushels, and the top prices were 2 1/2% better than the lowest points reached. It developed that the recent heavy selling of corn had been overdone, and the disclosure of limited offerings started general buying by shorts, and several big lines were covered on the way up, showing, and the top prices were 2 1/2% better than the lowest points reached. The stronger market for cash corn and advances from Kansas saying that rain is badly needed there and that the crops are suffering were bullish helps.

Crop and weather news generally was favorable. The weekly government report reported corn as showing much improvement, with fields well cultivated in the big central states. Fear of export restrictions was an early influence. Local shipping sales were 30,000 bu, with indications of some export business at the seaboard. Freight receipts were 78,000 bu, against 635,000 bu a year ago.

Early Break in Wheat.
Wheat had a sharp break early, but recovered part of the loss later, and closed only 1/4% lower. Free selling of July delivery by Jackson Bros. was the feature. Washington advices to the effect that wheat pending developments at Washington. Minneapolis reported a dull and sharply lower market for cash wheat there. Local bids on new wheat to arrive were withdrawn. Government weekly weather and crop report says that the growing season is better than last year, and that winter wheat generally fared well except in parts of the southwest. Clearances of wheat and flour for the day were 1,145,000 bu, compared with 802,000 bu a year ago. A primary receipt of 25,000 bu, against 698,000 bu a year ago. Minneapolis stocks decreased 80,000 bu for four days.

Oats Higher at Finish.
Oats were weak at the outset but rallied and closed 5/8% higher. Perennial buying of July oats by houses with seaboard connections was the feature. This, together with the bulge in corn, brought on short covering and helped the deferred futures. New buying was discouraged by the excellent crop outlook, although rank growth is reported in parts of Illinois. Cash oats were 1/4% higher, with local shipping sales of 195,000 bu, including 30,000 bu for export. There were also indications of further export business at the seaboard. Clearances for the day were 894,000 bu. Primary receipts totaled 750,000 bu, compared with 770,000 bu a year ago. Provisions. Prices were easier, but set in sympathy with a lower hog market at the yards, but there was good demand on the dip and the rally quickly followed. Buying was by brokers who usually act for packers and probers. The late firmness in corn and prospects of a light run of hogs were also factors. Receipts of hogs at the western markets totaled 97,700 head, against 111,000 a year ago.

Rye Market Steady.
Rye was steady, with cash No. 2 selling at $2.41, No. 1, 25c. Barley ruled dull for malting grades.
